Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/09/09: CIA-RDP90-00806R000100200048-6

ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE __________________

BOSTON GLOBE 9 November 1986

US/WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

CIA chief says trade can impede Soviets

WASHINGTON - The head of the CIA. William J. Casey, said yesterday that the West could thwart a Soviet "recipe of subversion" in the Third World by encouraging a global free market. Casey said more nations in the developing world are moving toward democracy and freer economies because they see the Soviet economy "grinding to a halt." Casey addressed the 17th annual Leadership Conference of the Center for the Study of the Presidency in Atlanta. A copy of his remarks was released in Washington. (UPI)